6. New Findings of the Dissertation:

First, the dissertation defines the concept of the Quang Ninh Provincial Party Committee's leadership in building the working class as the entirety of the Provincial Party Committee's activities, from issuing resolutions, guidelines, tasks, and solutions for working-class development to organizing implementation, inspection, and supervision, in order to successfully carry out the contents and measures for building the working class within the province. On that basis, the dissertation identifies five leadership contents and five leadership methods, including one new and distinctive content: the Quang Ninh Provincial Party Committee's leadership in promoting the advantages of the mining-region working-class tradition and the province's strong socio-economic development in implementing five contents and seven measures for building the working class.

Second, through surveys and assessments of the current situation, the dissertation draws five lessons learned, including one new and distinctive lesson: focusing leadership on promoting the mining-region working-class tradition and linking the leadership of working-class development in the province with the socio-economic development strategy, industrialization, modernization, and the transformation of the province's growth model; while concentrating on identifying and thoroughly resolving "bottlenecks."

Third, the dissertation proposes two breakthrough solutions to strengthen the leadership of the Quang Ninh Provincial Party Committee in building the working class in the province in the coming period: First, innovating the issuance and implementation of the Provincial Party Committee's resolutions and guidelines on working-class development; improving the leadership style and working methods of the Provincial Party Committee, especially its leading officials, in a decisive manner characterized by "matching words with actions," focusing on bottlenecks and urgent issues. Second, the Provincial Party Committee should strengthen its leadership in promoting industrialization, modernization, and enterprise development, while directing authorities and enterprises to effectively implement the Party's and the State's policies toward the working class in Quang Ninh Province./.
