7. New conclusions:

Firstly, the dissertation provides a comprehensive and up-to-date body of materials on the process by which the Quang Ninh Provincial Party Committee led the building of the grassroots political system during the period from 2010 to 2020.

Secondly, the dissertation contributes to reconstructing the process by which the Quang Ninh Provincial Party Committee led the building of the grassroots political system during the period from 2010 to 2020 through three fundamental dimensions: strengthening grassroots Party organizations; developing local government and the contingent of cadres and civil servants; and strengthening the Vietnam Fatherland Front and socio-political organizations at the grassroots level.

Thirdly, based on an objective and scientific assessment of the achievements, limitations, and their underlying causes, the dissertation draws several lessons from the practical experience of the Quang Ninh Provincial Party Committee's leadership in building the grassroots political system during the period from 2010 to 2020.

Fourthly, the findings of the dissertation contribute to the review and further understanding of the Quang Ninh Provincial Party Committee's leadership in building the grassroots political system in the coming period. They may also serve as reference materials for research and teaching on local history, as well as for compiling the history of the Quang Ninh Provincial Party Committee.
